THE CENTER

Who We Are

The National Center for Civil and Human Rights, which opened in 2014, is a museum and human rights organization in Atlanta that inspires people to tap their own power to change the world around them. The Center’s iconic exhibitions feature the papers and artifacts of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.; the history of the US civil rights movement; and stories from the struggle for human rights around the world today.

The National Center for Civil and Human Rights believes in justice and dignity for all – and the power of people to make this real. We inspire visitors and our other audiences with immersive exhibitions, dynamic events and conversations, and engagement and education/training programs.

Our History

The Center was first imagined by civil rights legends Evelyn Lowery and former United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young and was launched by former Mayor Shirley Franklin. The idea generated broad-based corporate and community support to become one of the few places in the world educating visitors on the link between the U.S. Civil Rights Movement of the 1950s and 60s and the contemporary struggle for human rights around the world. The Center opened its doors in 2014; its groundbreaking 42,000-square-foot facility is located on Pemberton Place®, adjacent to the World of Coca-Cola and the Georgia Aquarium, on land donated by the Coca-Cola Company.
The Center logo is a simple, open symbol of equality—a centered and central platform for reflection, dialogue, and action around rights today. Designed by Laura Douglas, formerly at ICON.

The vibrant red/orange color reflects action, passion, energy, and determination.

The rectangle shape provides strength and balance.

The line is a timeline and connecting thread, linking past, present, and future.

The central position of the line draws the eye toward the center, and creates an equal sign, to highlight the equality of all people, everywhere.

WHAT IS LGBTQ+ PRIDE MONTH?

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Queer (LGBTQ) Pride Month is currently celebrated each year in June to honor the 1969 Stonewall Uprising in Manhattan. The Stonewall Uprising was a tipping point for the Gay Liberation Movement in the United States. Today, celebrations include pride parades, picnics, parties, workshops, symposia and concerts, and LGBTQ Pride Month events attract millions of participants around the world. The purpose of the commemorative month is to recognize the impact that LGBTQ individuals have had on history, locally, nationally, and internationally.

LGBTQ FIGURES AT THE CENTER

Bayard Rustin (Located in Rolls Down Like Water: March on Washington Gallery)

Longtime activist Bayard Rustin oversaw the March on Washington’s logistics. A Quaker and a staunch pacifist, Rustin had been a conscientious objector during World War II and served prison time for his beliefs. Rustin masterfully handled all the March-related logistics: transportation, volunteer training, stage construction, food preparation, portable toilets, and the schedule. The overwhelming success of the March in terms of numbers, publicity, peacefulness, and overall organization garnered Rustin significant attention, where he appeared on the cover of Life Magazine with fellow organizers a week later under the headline, “The Leaders of the March.”

Anastasia Smirnova (Located in Spark of Conviction)

Anastasia Smirnova is an activist based in St Petersburg, Russia. She coordinates a coalition of LGBTQ organizations in their international advocacy efforts. Smirnova and members of the coalition have faced threats and violence from authorities due to their advocacy and the coalition’s work to promote LGBTQ rights in the lead up to the 2014 Olympic Games in Sochi. Smirnova and her colleagues led the campaign to fight discrimination against LGBTQ Russians in the lead-up to the 2014 Olympic Games in Sochi.

We hope you are able to connect with a few of the LGBTQ individuals we have featured in our permanent exhibits, which include:
